Winemaker Notes

Vineyard

The grapes were handpicked from our vineyards in the Rioja Alta sub-region

Winemaking

The grapes were fermented at controlled temperatures in stainless steel vats. Following full malolactic fermentation, the wine was racked to 225l American and French oak barrels where it was aged for 18 months and during which it acquired typical notes from both types of wood. After clarifying naturally, the wine was bottled and placed in our underground cellars where it continued to evolve and refine for a minimum of 18 months until being released to the market.
